DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.
2. Claims 1, 2 6-12 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Clayton et al. 3,337,391.
3. Claims 112 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Resendes et al. 7,015,265.
4. The rejections are maintained in view of the "Response to Arguments" below.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed 10/16/08 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Clayton et al. state in column 1, lines 36-38 that "X is a group which is capable of reacting with the siliceous surface, such as hydroxy, halogen of ester group". If a compound which is capable of reacting with a silicate is mixed with said silicate, it will react with said silicate. As far as Resendes et al. is concerned, once it is established that the filler is mixed with the organic compound prior to their addition to the rubber, the method steps are the same. So if there were no reaction in under the conditions of the ('265) patent, there should be no reaction under the conditions of the instant application.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

8. Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Clayton et al. 3,337,391 or Resendes et al. 7,015,265.

Both references have been discussed already. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art, at the time the invention was made, to select applicants' reactive groups being attached to the titanate of Clayton et al., from a list of equivalents. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art, at the time the invention was made, to pre-blend the filler with the organic additive as shown by Resendes et al., when any order of blending would have sufficed, since this order of addition might be advantageous according to the reference.

Double Patenting

9. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

10. Claims 1-12 and 20 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-11 of U.S. Patent No. 7,015,265.

Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because they show identical ingredients, similar conditions and the order of addition is a matter of choice.
